Optical communication, also known as optical telecommunication, is communication at a distance using light to carry information. It can be performed visually or by using electronic devices. The earliest basic forms of optical communication date back several millennia, while the earliest electrical device created to do so was the photophone, invented in 1880.

At the time of writing, post-processing of the 2015 data was incomplete and only limited areas were available for analysis. Nonetheless, as with the 2012 ALS campaign completed by KALC, the available new data from CALI illustrate, confirm and expand upon a range of long-held and well-established assumptions about archaeological landscapes from conventional studies.
